

University Neighbourhoods Association Recreation and Culture Programming Review

The University Neighbourhoods Association (Association) provides recreation and culture programs and events to approximately 16,000 residents who live in five separate Neighbourhood Housing Areas on the Campus at the University of British Columbia (UBC).

With the expected growth of the University Neighbourhoods Association population and the demand for programming and events increasing, the Association is seeking a consultant to review current recreation and culture programming provided by the Association, and, after undertaking a relevant trends analysis, population and socio-demographic analysis and comprehensive community engagement, determine community needs and provide recommendations on the provision of recreation and culture programming over the next five years.
